QUALITRILY MERTING OF THE YOUNG MEN'S MERCANTILE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.—The Young Men's Mercantile Library Association held its second quarterly meeting last evening. The attendance was not large, and the miserable noises with which the approach of the Fourth of July is announced interfered materially with the transaction of business. The Treasurer's Report shows recgipts from various sources to the amount of $2, 362 45, and disbursements amounting to $2,360 23, leaving a balance of cash in hand of $2 22. The annual commencement exercises of this excellent literary institution took place evening before last, at the Melodeon. Yesterday morning she determined to destroy herself and resorted to laudanum. Before the narcotic had completed its work, however, her condition became known; Dr. Goddard was called to her assistance, and by the use of proper remedies saved her for the present, at least, to a life she must forever despise, and afterward removed her to the Commercial Hospital, where she is now lying, only partially recovered from the effects of the poison. From what we have been able to learn in regard to this exceedingly sad affair, it appears that she is the daughter of very wealthy parents, and possesses in her own right a fortune of $60,000. She is about seventeen years of age, and was at school in Clarksville, Tennessee, where she met Wate, the destroyer of her reputation and peace, and became deeply enamored of him. Like the fair Ophelia, she "sucked the music of his honey rows," and when he proposed marriage she gave her life into the keeping of him who had taught her love, and with sighs and praises won her heart and hand. An elopement was projected and consummated. The pair came to this city; the refined and elegant girl was taken to the wretched boarding-house we have named; compelled to associate with persons she could not regard an equals; was deserted by the man she had learned to trust so well, and her proud heart, bursting with the indignity that had been heaped upon it, began to wither e'er it had begin to bloom. She was penniless and friendless; had been reared in luxury, but was now in want; had trusted, and had been betrayed; had been a wife, and become what the world, in its bitterness and hate, denominates an outcast, had loved and learned to trust so well, and her love's young dream could not be realized; had gazed on Paradise, and from the lofty hight been cast into the deep perdition of unend WANTED-A SPRUATION-By a young man in a botel or etore, as Porter; is willing to will be a compared. QUARTERLY MERTING OF THE MECHANICS AND MANUFACTURERS' EXCHANGE.—The Mechanics' and Manufacturers' Exchange held its regular quarterly meeting yesterday morning. From the report of the Secretary, we learn that the receipts during the quarter amounted to $1,315.56, and the disbursements to $510.36, leaving a balance in the treasury of $805.20. During the same period twenty-two new members were received, and ten declined, leaving a balance of four hundred and twenty-eight. The amount collected from members for fees was $750, and there are still $540 due to the Exchange from one hundred and eight delinquent members. Twelve new names have been added to the membership-roll during the quarter, and two new editions of the Advertising Circular have been printed since the last report, the majority of which have been distributed. The attendance of the members during the early portion of the quarter was very large, but recently it has considerably diminished, owing, doubtless, to the decrease in business and the state of the thermometer. The Exchange is in quite a flourishing condition, and seems admirably to serve the purpose for which it was instituted. Heidelback, Seasongood & Co. The building is five stories high, with a basement and cellar beneath, and is located on the south-west corner of Third and Vine. It is built of free-stone, and the style of architecture is light, graceful and elegant. The cellar, which has an entrance from Vine-street, is large, well-lighted and admirable ventilated, and is used for the storage of goods in boxes, and contains an apparatus for the generation of steam, with which the entire establishment will be heated—if the temperature of the atmosphere in Cincinnatic ever again becomes such as to render it necessary, which now seems to be rather doubtful. The hoisting apparatus is an excellent one, and has steam for a motive power. The basement, which is very commodious, has also an entrance from Vine-street, and it used for the display of woolen goods. The first story opens on Third-street, and the main room is seventy-four by fifty-four feet, with a ceiling sixteen feet high. It is furnished in elegant style, and is used for the display of cloths, cassimeres and notions. In the rear is the counting-room and private office of the establishment, both of which are very pleasant rooms, well ventilated and finely furnished. The second, third and fourth stories have rooms similar in size and finish to that above mentioned, each arranged for a distinct apartment of the business, with all the modern conveniences, and adapted to its purpose in the most admirable manner. Grover & Baker's Skwing Machine Salesrooms.—Scarcely a day passes but some attraction is added to Fourth-street—the fashionable retail mart—either in the completion of some new edifice or in the transformation of some old acquaintance. The latest of note is the establishment occupied by the agency of Grover & Baker's Sewing machines, No. 58 West Fourth-street. It has recently been repainted and papered in a magnificent style, the latter having been furnished and performed by F. & C. Andress. The elegantly furnished case for the reception of auxillaries of the machine was designed and built by Mr. T.S. McConnelland polished by Mr. Wm.
Wallace. The agency is well stocked with threads, silks, oils and other smaller articles used on their sewing machines.

The main factory for the building of these celebrated machines is situated in Boston, and is one block in length. Four hundred hands are employed, who turn out one hundred machines daily. These are not all of the same style, there being twenty-seven different patterns, and the same number of prices.
The amount of capital invested in the manufacture of the Grover & Baker Machines is three-quarters of a million of dollars. Their buninessis so large that no day, since February last, have they been without orders ahead, and it is only by the greatest exertion they manage to meet the large demands. There is now in use over forty thousand of these machines, none of which have failed to perform the desired work.

A Bayeraage Worker. and the Jury rendered a verdict accordingly.

A BRYERAGE WORTHY THE SEASON.—That man is a public benefactor, who, by any means, can produce a cooling mixture that shall overcome the depressing influence of an atmospheric temperature, such as that which our citizens just at pressuit are compelled to endure. Strange as it may seem, such a drink and such a man may be found at the corner of Eighth-street and Central-avenue. Albert Ross has a peculiar manner of preparing Soda-water for wilted and melted pedestrians, that is worthy the attention of the public. His sivups are positively delicious, and as he mixes them with his sparking Soda, he forms a beverage in which one may almost find his ideal of the nectar that Hebe tendered the gods.
